Lisa's goal is to steward her clients through the entire mortgage process, start to finish, and support them every step of the way. Having worked as a mortgage professional since 1993, she knows precisely how to advise her clients, whether they're buying their first home, scouting for a vacation house, seeking an investment property, or refinancing for a more attractive term. Lisa strives to develop a mutual trust with clients and team members alike by lending with integrity, and focuses on delivering a consistently exceptional client experience. She values attention to detail, saying, "At Highland Bank, we recognize that each mortgage transaction is unique and strive to identify the services and products that best support each client's mortgage needs." When Lisa is not helping her clients, she loves to spend time with family at their cabin on Balsam Lake. She's also an avid reader and a passionate runner.
